

Cupboard to Creativity 2021

January Update.

Hi Everyone,

I know we only had a week or so in January from the time I sent out the theme for this year to greeting February, so I do hope you have managed to get some ideas going and perhaps even stitched your first row.

I had a lot of fun playing with my gifted off cuts, and I made five different blocks.

I repeated 2 of them to make my first row as shown

I also came across another bag with some left over blocks from a double Irish Chain quilt (full photo on last Nov update page) so I was able to start a second quilt by joining the 4 blocks together & framing in the brown as shown here.

I have created a brief video explaining how I designed the blocks. I do not give exact measurements or a pattern, just the overview and guide and how I came up with the block designs.

I still have quite a few of the gifted triangles and I intend to use them again in another row.

Because of the colours I have decided to make bright triangles a theme throughout my quilt, and I am sure I have another collection of offcut triangles from making binding and other blocks—I will try to use them in this quilt too.

I hope you are inspired to dig out those off cuts start using them. If you have any questions send me an email.

Have fun quilting this month.
