

From Cupboard to Creativity Project

Jun 2020 - "Zig Zag" or "Changing Direction".

Hi Everyone,

We are nearly half way through our year, and so much has changed in 2020.

As I reflect on the past few months and see how so many lives have been altered in unpredictable ways — our Life's Path is certainly not a straight line.

I am sure many will be happy to move on from this past month, to better things ahead.

This thought led me to choose "Zig Zag" or "Changing Direction" as the border theme for this month.

You can interpret the theme to suit your own situation and style of work, and I have here some ideas of how others have used this theme.

The techniques you choose can be from applique to piecing, hand or machine, and the size of the project can vary to suit your time and project at hand.

You may like just 2 colours, or prefer to play with your scrap box, making perhaps something more traditional, or something more modern or odd shaped — you decide.

Your border may contain more than one element.

← Consider adding a texture like ric rac, or prairie points to create your design.

It may be that you have only a small part as "Zig Zag" or "Changing Direction" to meet this challenge.

Have fun playing with this concept — I look forward to seeing how you stitch this out.

Wishing you a month that takes you in a positive direction in your life.
