

Cupboard to Creativity 2020

Aug Update.

Hi Everyone,

I did not expect August to turn out the way it did. From the weekend 8/9 Aug I came down with a dry cough that turned into a chest infection. After the second lot of antibiotics, I'm still coughing a little but hope to be a lot better by the end of this week.

I have managed to still do some quilting:)

Aug Border Challenge

At the beginning of the month I looked through my Jinny Beyer book of blocks to see what I could do differently in a star border.

I was very excited with what I decided on and with a lot of designing & planning, I have completed my border and have almost completed a pattern for this design.

I have almost completed the second sample showing the inner border behind the stars (top photo)

I hope you have had a productive month with your quilting.

Quilts for Comfort:

Across July & early Aug, it has been lovely to see quilts made using the design sheets I have produced for quick ideas for gifting. Two very different looks from the "Double L block" design —one made by Vivien and the other by Betty— well done ladies.

Sandra has been busy over the past few months and shared her finished medallion quilt and her work in progress from my Scrap medley workshop. Great use of plain and florals for a bright and happy quilt.

I hope you all remain well and able to enjoy your quilting.
