

Cupboard to Creativity February Update 2024

Hi Everyone,

I hope you have had a fun time playing with the long strip scraps in February. I thought I should show you the finished January challenge as last month it was just blocks. →

I have had a busy month, I have made a centre with the theme for this month using the 10" blocks, with the star feature as the centre of 4 sections. I intend to do a border of some kind in following month to complete it.

I have also made a couple of gifting quilts for family & friends, but as they have not yet been given, I will leave the reveal until a later month.

I have had time to cut plenty of rectangles from scraps this month ready for the challenge ahead this month (& I may have made one sample already, but plan on doing another & will show both next month.

This month I have also completed a project from pieces I was gifted - all these blocks were made. I have already used some of these blocks in an earlier project, so this is the second one now finished as a gifting quilt also.

Queensland Quilters are supporting the Trauma unit at Brisbane General Hospital with comfort quilts (approx 40" x 60") so if you have spare let me know.

Have fun in March. Jan P.
