

Cupboard to Creativity April Update 2024

Hi Everyone,

I am happy to report that a gift I sent overseas to my penpal's granddaughter has been delivered so I can now share that project completed in Feb. →

I was proud of my grand daughter Charlotte (age 8) for stitching the letter C when I was visiting with her last year.

I have finished several gifting quilts this past month and distributed 8 between Rizeup & Friends with Dignity along with 2 larger bed re-gifted quilts from others.

I had among my "stash" a set of 9 blocks someone had prepared & ironed onto Vilene interfacing, 1 had some bias tacked on but it was clear that the gap between the fabric was not working & it was moved on — I have created a wider bias and finished the blocks, sewing them together to create a centre now waiting for some more borders.

I also completed the top from the March challenge using rectangles in a block method.

For my HST challenge for April I worked with a bag of pre sewn triangle left from previous projects and created 12 blocks that will now also be a centre for a large quilt.

I have several quilts needing binding, so I have lots to do this month, and I look forward to seeing some interesting creations from the May challenge.

Happy quilting.

Jan P.
