

Cupboard to Creativity May Update 2026

Hi Everyone,

Winter has arrived — the days are getting cooler which is perfect for quilting!

I hope you had fun with your animals this past month.

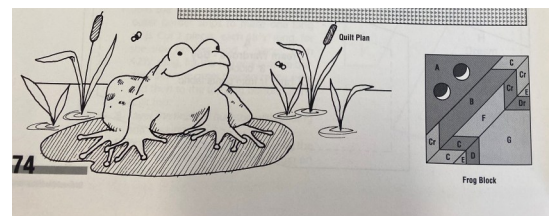

I added two sections to a quilt centre that I have been adding borders to for some time and have now finished the top for our now 6 month old grandson Luca.

I had fun with pieced frogs from my book "Quilt for kids" which I have had since 1995 - I reduced the size 50% to a 4" block.

If you have this book and are using this pattern be aware there was an incorrect template pattern, and one template missing for the frog.

I was able to sort that and chose to make 2 frogs, then decided to applique and embroider the frog pond from the illustrations in the book.

I have also been working on the applique from April challenge, a hexy quilt, some modern quilting, and designing a quilt for my grand daughter Piper —all current work in progress in between classes, a retreat and family time.
